Alison Branagan

- Provides essential guidance on key business and enterprise skills
- Contains over 100 apt quotations, creative exercises and illustrated mind maps®
- Includes real-life case studies; reflecting the successes and failures of managers and entrepreneurs
- With a foreword by Sir James Dyson

Enterprising individuals and business managers often feel that they need to acquire new skills and brush up on existing ones in order to achieve targets, make money and avoid making elementary mistakes.

Making Sense of Business will help you to do just that, with expert guidance on key skills such as selling, presentation and negotiation and advice on developing your self-confidence and learning to work creatively. There is no advantage in devising an imaginative sales pitch if no one has the confidence to carry it off. There is equally no benefit in having good interpersonal skills if after striking a deal, the contract is signed without a thorough understanding of its contents, only to discover later that the agreement is a bad one, full of loopholes and liabilities.

With illustrated mind maps and creative exercises, Making Sense of Business encourages fresh ways of thinking, helping you to learn new skills and achieve success.

RRP: £12.99

Your Price: £11.69

Paperback, 192 pages, June 2009

“ As competition around the world intensifies, the need for good ideas is more important than ever, as is what to do with them next.

Alison's book is the perfect place to start. ”

Sir James Dyson
